

Types of MODULES

Announcements - Create unlimited, Real-Time announcements to keep all of your students and their parents up to date on what's going on in your classes.

Assignments - Loathed by students and loved by parents & teachers, this module provides a public and easily accessible place for teachers to post assignments and even attach files, links, videos and more to those assignments. Parents & students can "subscribe" to the assignments to be immediately notified anytime new work is posted. It will send a text notice to their cell phone or email them the complete details of the assignments.

Calendar Our extensive multi-level calendar tools allow teachers to create new events quickly and easily.

Blog has quickly become the communication method of choice for those who want to keep a large number of people informed and up to date with events as well as to discuss various topics. Those who read the blogs can also be given the right to respond or comment on blog topics. Utilizing the latest blogging technology can help keep everyone informed and provide another great way to communicate.

FAQ's - "Frequently Asked Questions" section of your new site, you can proactively answer all the common questions you get from parents and students

Links - Quickly & easily create links to other websites, or custom links to files and images you have uploaded to your new site.

Supplies With the supplies module included with your new teacher site, you can keep all of your parents and students informed about all the supplies they will need for your classes, pictures of those items, and even links and directions to where they can purchase those items!

Textbox – This is a blank canvas for you to create your own look

Media – UNLIMITED Photos, Audio and Video files can be uploaded to your new TeacherSite to be shared with all of your parents & students. Image creating video interviews of yourself or scenes of your class in action and posting it on your site, or even making videos of school events or audio blogs of guest speakers. With the audio and video capabilities of your new TeacherSite, anything is possible.
